CHARITY AND CORRECTION

Reports Given on the Topics Discussed at State Convention-Meeting Under Auspices of United Work-

Under the auspices of the United Workers a meeting was held on Thursday afternoon in the lecture room at the Central Baptist church where reports were given from the recent state conference of charities and corrections at New Haven Mrs. George D. Coit, president of the United Workers, called the meeting to order at 3 o'clock, about forty being present to hear the reports. After the singing of a hymn, Mrs. Coit spoke briefly of the opening of the convention programme.

She was followed by Mrs. Frank A. Mitchell, who spoke of the work done by the triendly visiting teacher, who is able to learn of the condition of backward children by going directly into homes and becom as acquainted with family conditions to that much more intelligent assistance can be given. She also spoke of a suggestion about gardens for the boys and girls in cities and that these should be made large enough so that each young agriculturist can actually produce something. She referred to the fact that this idea was carried out at the Mystic oral school. Speaking of one address oral school. Speaking of one address given in New Haven, she said it call-ed attention to the use often made of the county homes for which they were the county homes for which they were not intended. Shiftless fathers and mothers should not understand that these were easy places to get rid of the care of their children, and foreigners should be disabused of the idea that the state provided these places for the care of children who could later be returned to their parents, when they reached a productive age. Mrs. Mitchell also spoke of the lack of any provision for the care of dependent children under four years of age. She ell also spoke of the lack of any pro-vision for the care of dependent chil-dren under four years of age. She mentioned that the Catholic church was making provision for these depen-dents and the bishop had ordered that the last bishop's collection taken on Easter Sunday should be made nucleus to found a home for these children.

Preventive Work for Boys. Mrs. H. M. Pollock reported on another part of the state convention's programme. She mentioned the pre-ventive work done for boys in the way of forming George junior republics, and spoke of the way cruelty to children was looked out for just as cuelty to animals had been years ago. Mrs. Pollock laid special emphasis upon the impression made by an address upon vocational school training, making the school training approximating more school training approximating more closely to the real life necessities. Mrs. Coit spoke briefly of an idea advanced in connection with district visiting nurses. This was to have a district housekeeper also to follow up the work of the visiting nurse,

The Social Evil. Rev. P. C. Wright, who has been ill ali the week with quinsy sore throat, had recovered sufficiently to be pres-ent at this meeting and made an interesting report upon a session of the convention which considered the social evil.
